

CRATER LAKE ROAD GETS THROUGH HOUSE BY A VOTE OF NEARLY FOUR TO ONE AFTER FIERCE OPPOSITION—OREGON HAS BOTH SCENERY AND PUBLIC SPIRIT

The house considered the Crater Lake road bill, carrying $100,000 and was discussed in committee of the whole. Dimick opposed the bill as an entering wedge to a very bad system. Mahone expatiated upon the wonderful scenery of Oregon as a valuable asset of this state. McDonald said he favored all appropriations for the upbuilding and development of the state.

It was a bill to make available one of the greatest natural resources of the State. McArthur, Brooke and Purdin spoke for the bill. Beyant attacked the land grants for wagon roads and the railroads. This fight for a wagon road to Crater Lake was a movement to give $100,000 to help turn business over to the Southern Pacific. They would get $4 out of $5 of every dollar brought to Oregon by opening Crater Lake.

McKinney said the charges that this bill would benefit Harriman, hotel keepers and livery and automobile men. It could not do that without bringing large numbers of people to Oregon and that would benefit the whole state. As for a new precedent, he would leave it to lawyers to be guided by ancient and mouldy precedents. It was advertising this state and that was aimed at, and it was advertising Oregon needed—let us get into the class of scenic attractions before the whole world.

McCue eulogized the natural scenic attractions of Oregon. Dimick asked: "May I ask the gentleman a question?" Campbell said "No." (General laughter.) Later Dimick asked what he meant by the United States recognizing this Crater Lake road. McCue said it was an assurance to the committee that the department of the interior and the department of agriculture both were ready to build their share of this road through the forest reserve. Carter and Davis both spoke mildly, intimating that Oregon had more scenery than public spirit. Jaeger spoke eloquently for the bill. Brandon said all they had in New England was scenery and fresh air. There were no fish in Crater Lake. It was an open sepulchre of well-like Martinique. Would they get the automobile men and tourists in there to rob them as they did at Yellowstone Park? Miller objected to Brandon's remark placing the people of Jackson county so near the infernal regions as he had. Southern Oregon had set the pace in development for the whole state in fruit culture and general progress. Should eastern and southern Oregon forever be taxed to enrich the Willamette valley and get nothing in return? No. A thousand times no. Tourist trade could not be brought into Oregon without benefiting the whole state and settling up and enriching every section and building up every city in the state. Would these men shut out an expenditure of $500,000, of which this state would put up $100,000? Campbell in the speaker's chair on roll call stated he voted no as he believed this bill was unconstitutional.

Reynolds thought this bill was a better investment than in any exposition appropriation ever made. It would return more money to Oregon than any advertising we could do. Patton and Reynolds voted aye on the bill.

On the roll call Farrell, Hattburg, Hughes, Jackson, Jones of Polk, Jones of Clackamas, Linsenweber, Libby, Meek, Phillip voted no. So the bill passed nearly four to one.

Nervous Indigestion

The action of digestion is controlled by nerves leading to the stomach. When they are weak, the stomach is deprived of its energy. It has no power to do its work. If you want permanent relief, you must restore this energy. Dr. Miles' Nervine restores nervous energy, and gives the organs power to perform their functions.

"For many years I was a acute sufferer from nervous indigestion; at times I was so despondent life seemed almost a burden. I tried all kinds of remedies and various physicians with little or no relief. Until one night last summer I saw Dr. Miles' Nervine and Heart Cure advertised. I resolved to make one more trial which I did in the purchase of one bottle of Nervine and one of Heart Cure. In a few days I began to feel better, which encouraged me so much that I continued the medicine until I had taken more than a dozen bottles. I am very much improved in every way; in body, mind and spirits since. I make a special point to recommend the medicine, and feel a sincere pleasure in knowing that several persons have been benefited through my recommendation."

BAD BLOOD

"Before I began using Cascarets, I had a bad complexion, pimples on my face, and my food was not digested as it should have been. Now I am entirely well, and the pimples have all disappeared from my face. I can truthfully say that Cascarets are just as advertised. I have taken only two boxes of them."

Unless It's a Good Store It Will Not Pay to Advertise It!

UNLESS you know a person—unless that person comes into your life in some way—you are not greatly concerned about whether he is good or bad, desirable or objectionable.

It's so with a store. The people who never visit it care nothing about it one way or the other. It doesn't exist—for them. But—when they are persuaded to patronize it—when they come to turn the spot-light of their attention on it—when it comes to have a part in their lives, as some stores must have in all lives—then it's different; then it DOES matter whether it strives to win confidence; it does matter whether or not its price concessions are genuine, dependable.

If it meets all tests that a good store must stand when it is advertised—when it thus invites the critical attention of people—then advertising "makes" the store. If it fails in most of the vital things—if it proves, under the light of publicity, not to be much of a store, THEN ADVERTISING WILL NOT PAY—for it will emphasize shortcomings as well as merits.

For these same reasons it is generally assumed that the store which does not advertise is seeking to avoid close inspection and comparison, and that the store which does is courting them.
